

Arya Mahila P.G. College, Varanasi

B.Ed. Department

Summary Report of Lecture Organized by B.Ed. Department on the Topic “Effective Teaching”

To understand the concept of effective teaching in new era a significance lecture titled “Effective Teaching” was organised by B.Ed. Department, Arya Mahila P.G. College Varanasi on 11th October 2017 in the college auditorium. The resource person was Prof. R.P. Shukla, Head and Dean, Faculty of Education, Varanasi. Firstly, in his lecture Prof. Shukla presented the different aspects of effective teaching in vary systematic way. He said that Subject Knowledge, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology, Teaching strategy, Teaching Method, Teaching Techniques, Measurement and evaluation process and Classroom Management are very important for an effective classroom teaching. Philosophy gives a base for teaching. Knowledge of Psychology and Sociology helps a teacher to understand the background of a learner. Teaching Methods, teaching strategy and teaching techniques provides understand, skill and confidence of classroom teaching. He said that knowledge of measurement and evaluation helps a teacher to understand the success of teaching and learning process. Knowledge of classroom management helps a teacher to develop discipline in students. Therefore a teacher must have the knowledge and skill of these areas for effective teaching. After lecture a deep discussion took place between resource person and participants. There were 98 participants in this lecture. Organiser of this lecture was Ms. Arti srivastava, anchor was Dr. Poonam Jaiswal .At the end of this program a vote of thanks given by Dr. Namita Sinha.

